About P&O Ferries

P&O Ferries carries passengers and cargo to and from the United Kingdom. P&O has a large fleet of twenty modern ships, an extensive network of routes and destinations and a high frequency of passenger and freight shipping between the European mainland and the United Kingdom.

Rotterdam is the departure and arrival port for all ferries to Hull on England's East coast. The journey takes between 10 and 11 hours.

P&O's ships are modern and well equipped to make the journey as comfortable and enjoyable as possible. Each ship has several restaurants, bars and shops, a cinema, a casino, a show lounge and several relaxation areas. There are also special play areas for younger children.

P&O Ferries sails to and from Europoort. You will find the terminal at port no. 5805, approximately 37 kilometres from the city centre. To get there by car, take the A15/N15 motorway. Free parking is available at the terminal. You can also get to the terminal by bus from Rotterdam Central Station. Tickets must be reserved in advance.
