About ss Rotterdam

The Steamship Rotterdam is the biggest ocean-going steamer ever built in the Netherlands. As the former flagship of the Holland-America Line, this cruise liner has sailed many of the world's seas since 1959. The ship is now moored permanently in the Maashaven in Rotterdam, by Katendrecht. The ship's history is palpable at every turn once you come aboard. The 1950s interior and the many artworks were restored to the closest possible approximation of their former glory between 2005-2008. The hotel rooms, restaurants and other facilities are fully adapted to modern conveniences, however.
